The Scots Covenanter Foot at
The Siege of Newcastle
19 October 1644

Commander: The Earl of Leven

The "First Brigade"
Opposite Westgate:
The Galloway Regiment commanded by Col William Stewart
The Perthshire Regiment commanded by Col The Lord Murray of Gask
Opposite White friar Tower:
The Clydedale Regiment commanded by Gen of Artillery Sir A Hamilton
The Edinburgh Regiment commanded by Col James Rae
Opposite Close Gate:
The Loudon-Glasgow Regiment commanded by The Earl of Loudon
The Tweedale Regiment commanded by Lt Col Walter Scott

The "Second Brigade"
Opposite Newgate:
The Angus Regiment commanded by Lt Gen William Baillie
The Strathearn Regiment commanded by Col The Lord Coupar
The Fife Regiment (Crawford-Lindsay's) commanded by The Earl of Crawford-Lindsay
The East Lothian Regiment commanded by Col Sir Patrick Hepburn
The Fife Regiment? (Dunfermline's) commanded by The Earl of Dunfermline

The "Third Brigade"
Opposite Pilgrim Street Gate:
The Kyle & Carrick Regiment commanded by The Earl of Cassillis
The Nithsdale & Annandale Regiment commanded by Col William Douglas of Kilhead
The Mearns & Aberdeen Regiment commanded by The Earl Marischal
The Linlithgow & Tweedale Regiment commanded by The Master of Yester
The Merse Regiment commanded by Col Sir David Home

The "Fourth Brigade": commanded by the Earl of Callendar
Opposite Sandgate:
The Levied or College of Justice Regiment commanded by Col the Lord Sinclair
The Stirlingshire Regiment commanded by Col the Lord Livingstone

Various contemporary Tracts

Robertson, J., article in The Arquebusier, 1983 No. 3